What is Plinko and How Does It Work?

At its core, Plinko is a game of possibility based on probability and physics simulation. When a gamer initiates a round, they drop a puck (or ball) from the top of a pyramid-shaped board filled with obstacles-- normally pegs. As the disc falls, it bounces off these pegs in a randomized trajectory until it lands in among the slots at the bottom.

Each slot represents a particular multiplier, which figures out the payment for the round. The slots situated towards the center of the board typically use lower multipliers (or even result in a loss), while the slots toward the external edges usually use significantly greater benefits, reflecting the lower mathematical possibility of the puck landing there.
