Anyone can build a website and call themselves a cleaning company. What is harder to fake is a track record. For Roanoke homeowners comparing house cleaning options, the Better Business Bureau blue seal displayed by The Happy Housekeepers is one of the clearest signs that this is an established business with a history of standing behind its work. The company has been cleaning homes in the Roanoke Valley since 1979.

The BBB blue seal is shown on the company website alongside a link to its BBB business profile, which is filed under house cleaning in Roanoke. Customers who want to do their homework can look at that profile directly. For many people, that is a big part of the decision, especially when comparing an established company with someone found through a social media post or a free classified listing.

A seal on its own is not the whole story, though. It works alongside other trust signals. The Happy Housekeepers is licensed, bonded and insured, and its employees are bonded and insured by the business, which is why the company says customers do not need to be home during cleaning. The office is fully staffed with associates who answer questions by phone or email.

The residential list is thorough: dusting or polishing furniture, vacuuming carpets, mopping hard floors, complete kitchen and total bathroom clean-ups and dusting of window sills, baseboards, blinds and ceiling fans. Specialized services include spring and fall cleanings, oven and refrigerator interiors, walls and woodwork, light fixtures and basements.
